

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

To provide an electronic catalog recording medium for enabling a user to select the desired chain block or crane by himself/herself with ease and efficiency and an electronic catalog device for use in executing the electronic catalog, a drive system selecting program for selecting a drive system of the chain block, a model selecting program for selecting a model of the chain block from the drive system selected by the drive system selecting program, and a model number selecting program for selecting a model number of the chain block in respect of the model selected by the model selecting program are recorded in the electronic catalog recording medium. Further, a moving system selecting program for selecting a moving system of the crane and a model number selecting program for selecting a model number of the crane from the moving system selected by the moving system selecting program are recorded in the electronic catalog recording medium.